

Learning Style Inventory for Elementary Students™

Student Number

7957

Learner Profile – STUDENT REPORT

Student Report for: MONICA HUNAN

Teacher: Taylor

Your strongest style is: SOCIAL

Dear MONICA,

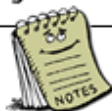

Congratulations, MONICA! You have just discovered your Learning Style. Knowing your learning style will help you solve all kinds of learning challenges, from finding the best way to study for a test on state capitals to learning how to make a great pizza from scratch. Knowing your learning style is a key to being successful in life and achieving the things you want.

WHAT DO YOUR RESULTS MEAN?

STEP-BY-STEP Learners...

- follow a routine
- get things done
- keep themselves organized

SOCIAL Learners

- work well with friends
- know when people are happy or sad
- like to help others

CURIOUS Learners

- like to figure things out
- learn mostly from reading
- ask questions

CREATIVE Learners

- are imaginative
- come up with creative ideas
- put drawings and art in their work

ALL ABOUT Monica

What are you good at in school?

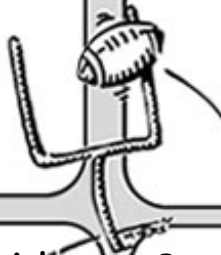

reading

What do you find hard to do in school?

math

What do you do for fun?

play soccer

If you could choose ONE special school field trip, would you:

___ visit a newspaper office or bank where you could see how a business works?

X clean up a local park or do some other work with friends to help your community?

___ go to an interactive science or learning museum where you could find out how interesting things work?

___ choose a creative experience like a concert, play, or an art museum?

Based on what you are good at and what you enjoy doing for fun, what do you think you might do as a career when you grow up?

i think i will be a teacher

Is there something that you never leave for school without?

my brother!

1, 2, 3 ... ALL ABOUT ME!

Now that you have completed the activity and thought carefully about your particular learning style, take a few minutes and write down three important things that you have learned about your learning style.

1. i am good at working with my friends

2. i am helpful

3. i am good at telling how people feel

DIFFERENT ... BUT THE SAME

Sit down with a classmate who has a different learning style and discuss how your styles are similar and different. Record the differences and similarities below.

How is my style different from my classmate's style?

i like to talk about stuff before i start it.

How is my classmate's style different from my style?

jenny like to get right to work!

How are our styles similar?

we both like when the teacher writes directions on the board.

THINKING ABOUT STYLE

Think back on a time when you learned a new skill like playing a sport, learning an instrument, or playing a computer game. Or maybe you'd rather think about a lesson at school like multiplying numbers, learning how to write cursive, or understanding the solar system.

Now take a few minutes to think about how your special learning style helped you learn this new skill or school lesson. When you finish, find a classmate and share your story about how you learned this new skill or lesson using your learning style.

The new skill or lesson I learned: soccer

My learning style: social

This is how my learning style helped me when I learned this new skill or lesson: Being social helped me work hard with my team.

AWARD-WINNING STYLE!

Congratulations! You have just been hired by the Learning Style Award Company. Your first assignment is to create a special award for students who have your learning style. Think carefully about your learning style. What type of award would be perfect for your style? What illustrations would you use? What will the words say?

Take a few minutes to fill out the planning form and then get busy creating the award in the space below.

1. Which learning style are you creating an award for?

- ☒ Most Friendly (Social Learner)
☐ Best Thinker (Curious Learner)
☐ Most Creative (Creative Learner)
☐ Hardest Worker (Step-by-Step Learner)

2. What kind of award will you create? A trophy, ribbon, certificate, cup ... something else?

a necklace

3. What words and drawings will you put on the award?

best friend!

